Ignominious Collapse of Kate Field's Co-operative Dress-making Establishment.

A Receiver Appointed and Various Largo Creditors Clamoring for Immediate Payment.

The Liabilities Alleged To Be About One-Maif the Assets---tause of the Crash.

New York, Pec. 22.-The Co-operative Dress association store in Twenty-third street was open until 10 o'clock. Then all persons were requested to leave. The doors were fastened, and upon them was pasted a paper inscribed with the word "Closed," All day ladies tried the doors, and several times they gathers i augroup- and exchanged surmises as to the trouble. The rumor soon spread that the association was in the hand- of a receiver. ceretacy Darley Ratefall and Treasurer J. M. Hoyt were busy with the receiver, Feeding Us Smith Mr. Hoyt was subsequently put in charge of the store. In the afternoon Deputy Sherifi Phomas H. Sullivan appeared with attichments for $6,000. He was told the concern was already in the hands of a receiver, but he thought he would stay.

According to the directors, the trouble has been coming on for months. Trade since the spring had been very bad, but they would have kept on if they had not learned that several sains had been begun against them.  $\Lambda$ meeting of the directors was held Monday. The directors were Kate Field, who had been president till two weeks ago; secretary, Dar-

. T Impect Entirond Land Grants.

Washington, Dec. 27. Representative Payson, of Illinois, a member of the Louise committee on judiciary, who has taken a very active part in the matter of Tupsed railroad and grants, and who has declared himself in favor of forfeiting all masuraed lands, is devoting the holiday recess in volkeding additional details, bearing on the subject. At the department of the interior to day he ascortained that the Oregon Caural road has constructed but very 5.3, miles under its grant, and that it controls appeareds of one and a half million acres of land between Portland and Astoria, upon which softlers are very desirons of outering. With a view to throwing this land ment has softlear-set winder the house bend laws. Mr. Payson has propared a resolution de tar-ing the same forfected, and hopes to have it acted upon by the house judiciary committee at its next meeting. In a conversation with a representative of the western press to-day on the general question of the forfeiture of land grants, Mr. Payson said the indications were quite favorable for the consideration of the subject in the house before the adjournment of the present session.

KILLED BY HER LOVER.

Death of a Young Lady by the Accidental Discharge of Her Lover's Pistol.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Doc. 27 .- One of the saddest tragedics ever enacted in this community was that of yesterday afternoon, when Miss Imogene Lewis, a respected and beautiful young lady, met ber death instantly from the mature discharge of her lever's revolver. She had but time to address a few loving words to her betrothed before breathing her last. The particulars of the sad affair, as learned last evening, are contradictory to the ratmors that were rife earlier in the day, when it was noised about that it was a case of nurder. Miss Lewis lived in Diamond street, and had received the addresses of Mr. George W. Gates for some time, and their wedding was announced for the near future. Preparations of an elaborate nature were already under was. Yosterday afternoon Mr. Gates called upon Miss Lewis, and, at her solicitation, was rearranging some of the evergrous about the chandelier. He had mounted a step-ladder and was engaged with the decorations, when a 32-calibre revolver fell from his outside cost-pocket, and in its descent struck the ladder, and one of the chambers was expluded. Miss Lewis was standing near, and the ball struck her in the neck. She fell to the floor, but, before Mr. Gates could reach her, arose, but only to fail into his arms with the remark: "Oh, George, you have killed me! you have killed me!" He supposed her exclanation was caused by fright and endeavored to quiet her, but she pointed to the bullet-hole in her neck and asked for her smelling-salts, She was able to walk to a sotre, but expired immediately. Mr. Gates was frantic with grief, and rushed into the street like mad and gave the alarm. To the coroner, who was sunhamoned, he said, between his soles: "I leved and cherished the young lady, and she perhaps worshiped me." When asked concerning his practice of carrying a weapon he said: "I have not been accustomed to energy a revolver. I bough: this one to shoot dops in the outskirts of the city when out riding. On Sanday I started for a drive and slipped my revolver into my outside coat pocket, and it remained there until yesterday, when this terrible catastrophe has overtaken me." No one was in the room at the time of the tragedy, but Mr. Gates' account of the affair is Cully eredited. ramors that were rife earlier in the day, when it was noised about that it was a case

A WATER FAMINE, 335

The People of Western Pennsylvania in a Suffering Condition From the Searcity of Water. CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 27.—The Herald has a special from Elk City, Pa., saying the water famme in western Pennsylvania is becoming a very serious matter. In Me-Kean, Warren, Venango, Butler and Clarion counties over 1,800 oil wells are shut down counties over 1,820 oil wells are shut down from want of water. The mills operated by water power stand idla. Live stock in many places had to be driven several miles to water. The small streams are nearly dry and frozen solid, and the larger ones are lower than for many years with heavy ice. The people in many instances are compelled to carry water for domestic purposes long distances, and it is then impare and hardly fit to use. Disease is being generated from this cause. The lumbermen were prevented from running out over $500,100 worth of lumber by having no high water last fall, and half of this material is locked in the ice-bound streams in the form of rafts and barges. If the ice goes out with high water a large proportion of the lumber will be lost, as it will go out with the ice. As far as possible that lumber not frozen up in the streams is being shipped by rail at doubte the cost of rafting it out. As a consequence of these drawbacks money is scarce in the lumber regions.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 .- Oscar Wilde visited the Madison Square bank'yesterday and closed his account, preparatory for his departure his account, preparatory for his departure for Europe to-day. He drew out some $2,900. A reporter, who mot him there, asked what foundation there was for the story that he had been swindled out of $2,000 by bunks men. He replied: "This is one for the wenderful stories get up by you American reporters. You are really the most ingeneous people in the world. I assure you there is nothing whatever in it, and can't imagine how it started." The paying teller of the bank was asked if Mr. Wilde had stopped any large check there, but declined to talk ghout it."

FURTHER DETAILS

Of the Terrible Tragedy at Uniontown, Pennsylvania.

Dukes Held for the Wilful Murder of Cashier Nutt.

The Bend Captain's Daughter the Alleged Cause of the Sad Affair.

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 27.—The distressing tragedy by which Cashier Nutt, of the state treasury, lost his life, is the general topic of conversation throughout the town and county. The mystery which at first surrounded the tragedy is gradu-ally clearing away. It has been ascertained, however, that a series of letters passed between Captain Nutl and Nicholas L. Dukes, who fired the fatal shot. In regard to the captain's eldest daughter, Miss Lizzie, rumor has it that the father had heard sad stories about the young lady, and wrote to Mr. Dukes, requesting him to marry her. The latter made reply, declining to enter into wedlock with Miss Nutt, and adding his reasons, which the father thought a foul slander on his daughter.

In reply to the letters came back one to Mr. Dukes containing a threat against his life. This letter announced the time when the captain would arrive home, and it is said the whole tone of it showed that Capt. Nutt was not triffing and would not be triffed with. It is believed that Mr. Dukes anticipated frouble and purchased the pistol with which he fired the fatal shot after he had received this letter. It was probably Mr. Dukes' inten-tion to remain in his room at the Jennings hotel so as to avoid meeting Captain Nuit, and that was why he gave special orders to have the room cleaned up on Sunday morning, Captain Nult was a man of undoubted courage, of strong convictions, and when he felt that Captain Nult was a main of undoubted courage, of strong convictions, and when he felt that there was provocation to assault a man he was not at raid to assault him. Mr. Dukes is also a man of great personal courage, and all who know him would fally expect him to defend himself.

These are the rumors concerning the correspondence between Captain Nutt and Mr. Dukes. A different version is also given today as to the transactions in Dukes' room. Captain Nutt struck at Dukes with his came, and the latter warded the blow at his head with his right arm, as a large well on that member will show. Dukes must also have struck the captain furiously, as there are marks on his head and also upon his face.

J. I. Feathers, one of the men who rushed into the room upon hearing the scalle, says the men were eight feet apart when Dukes fired, but as me think the witness was for excited to note accurately as to this fact. Dukes grasped the came from Nutt, and, from the marks upon the head of the deceased, must have struck him in return. Capt Nutt said nothing about his faraily trenbles, except to his nephow, Clark Breekenridge, on Sanday. State Treasurer Bailey, who was not only Nutt's superior, but also his personal friend, never heard of the trouble until after the shooting. Mr. Dailey is enviraged the captain was determined to wring either a promise from Dukes to marry the young lady or to kill him, and that view is probably correct. Mr. Dukes is still in jail. A charge of wilful and malicious mupder was preferred against him before Justice Holmes by Coroner Sturgeon. Dukes has retained Hon, Clarkes E. Boyle and E. E. Lindsey, Eag, as his counsel. counsel.

Quite a number of visitors have called upon the prisoner, but he declines to speak at all about the artray. He is very much distressed.

Mrs. Breckenridge, sister of the deceased.

Mrs. Breekenridge, sister of the deceased, and her so Clark, are both at the Natt homestead.

From a particular friend of Dukes the statement comes that he states that Miss Lizzio Nutk, daughter of the deceased, is excited, but he is guiltless in the matter. It appears that for some time past Dukes has been paying attention to Miss Nutt against the wishes of her father. For some months past anenymous letters have been received by Miss Nutt, reflecting strongly upon her good name. Not long since one of these letters was dropped at the gale of the Nutt mansion. On theory is that some one wishing to gain Miss Nutt's effections dropped the letters to supplant Dukes. Another is that Mr. Nutt believed Dukes Another is that Mr. Nutt believed Dukes Another is that Mr. Nutt believed Dukes to be the author of the epistles, have the difficulty. All that can be got in reference to the first carate is more conjecture, as the friends of Eoth parties refuse to speak. Opinion in this place is divided, and it seems that each into supposed to know the lottom facts, has his own theory to support.

It is given on good authority that Breckenridge, when asked about the actors, said: "I will have to show them soon enough."

Mrs. Nutt, wife of the deceased, is contintimally using the expression, "Those inscrible letters!" Breckenridge holds possession of the letters. It is said that he has thom locked up in the bank want.

Dukes passed a restless hight, and it is stated that he is quite repentant, and wishes that he had been shot. Some state that he bought the fatal weapon flyoweeks ago. The rumors reflecting upon Miss Nutt's character are offset by the fact that history is have early about the same.

It is said that Dukes claims to have regarded as a purefgirl. Her position in society was the highest, and that of Mr. Nutt was about the same.

and her son Clark, are both at the Nutt home-was the highest, and that of Mr. Natt was about the same.

It is said that Dukes claims to have reactived threatening letters from Nutt, and it is apparant that the resounter was expected by bukes.

apparant that the recounter was expected by Dukes.

The funeral of Capt. Nutt took place at 1 o'clock yesterday, and was attended by Company to the Grand Army, and the Masonic fraternity, who had charge of the exectives. The banks and all places of business were closed. The condition of Mrs. Nutt is regarded as critical. Great fears are also emertained for the daughter's life and reason.

A later dispatch says an intense feeling against Dukes has developed within the last twenty-four laurs. It has been pretty clearly shown that he had been legging off for some time, and had proposed the merting at the heals such as the last of the condition of violones are visible upon his person, while Nutt has ents and brukes upon the face and arms. It is quickly hinted that there is a possibility of the citizens taking the law into Jacir own hands.

Washington, Dec. 26 -The dignity of the sonate has suffered a severe shock in the amendment of Voorhees to the civil-service bill, which provides that there should be a board of school feachers to examine the commissioners in the English branches, and to ascertain whether the commissioners considascertain whether the commissioners considered it necessary for a clerk in the departments to be able to calculate an eclipse or describe the isothermal line, and that two of these school teachers should be women. To this amondment Yoorhees made a speech. He addressed himself particularly to the southern Democrats, many of whom were disposed to vote for the Pendleton bill. He made the assertion that, if he was a southern Democrat, he would sooter jump from the dome of the capitot than to vote for it. He characterized the bill as a piece of chicane, and redected upon the sincerity of those who supported it.

Voorhees' Amendment.

Important Legislation.
Washington, Dec. 26.—A prominent Democratic member of the house said to-day that the passage of a civil-service reform bill, a tariff bill, and a bill reducing internal revenue would assist very materially the Democratic party in winning the next national contest, The out-look new, however, for the passage of any one of these three measurements tires is not at all encouraging. The Pendleton civil-service reform bill may got through the senate, but it will not find many friends in the senate, but it will not find many friends in the house. Other civil-service reform bills are more popular there—the Kasson bill, for instance; and while there is a disposition on the part of both parties to pass are masculated bill of some kind to meet the popular clamor, the difficulty in agreeing upon the features of such a measure may defeat any logislation. MUSROGEE, Indian Territory, Dec. 27.-The first open hostilities of the Creek Indian war occurred Sunday fifteen miles west of Okmulkee. Aband of Checote's men, under Jim Larney, were going west, when about 7 o'clock in the evening they were attacked by some two hundred of Spiechec's partisans under command of Mekarackee. The fight rage for an hour, whon Checote's men fell back, it kept up a running fight for ten miles. Bob Carr, Dave Barrett and wife, and a man named Walsh, are reported killed. The loss of the other side is not known. The whole country is rushing to arms. On receipt of the news here, a detachment of forty United States soldiors was ordered to the scene, and yesterday morning they overtook and disarmed 150 of Checote's men. This will be continued till all the men engaged on both sides are disarmed. Spiechee's men say they don't want to fight, but do want their rights and are anxious the United States commissioner should investigate and decide the matter between them and the opposing party. United States Agent Tuffts has gone to the scene of the trouble.

There appears to be a bone of contention between them in the shape of some legislation which has never been amicably settled. Monday there being more than the customary amount of bad whisky drank, both factions became unusually boisterous. They are all armed to the teeth, and are conducting themselves in a very hostile manner. At Eufaula there occurred several skirmishes. No one was killed, but the whites became frightened and sent the women and children out of town in anticipation of an outbreak and massagen. At Ocmen fell back, tkept up a running fight for the whites became frightened and sent the women and children out of town in anticipation of an outbreak and massacro. At Octamulgee greater excitement provailed. A pitched battle was expected every hour. Women and children were hurried away to a place of safety, and men prepared as bost they could to protect themselves and property. A massacro was hurrieally discountered as the could be safety, and men prepared as bost they could to protect themselves and property. poset they could to protect themselves and property. A message was hurrically dispatched to Fort Gibson for the soldiers to protect the town. They responded promptly, and it is said arrived on the seens in time to prevent a bloody encounter. Excitement canshigh, and the procability is that the matter will be settled with blood this time, as it has been promised on several occasions.

THE TABOR SCANDAL.

New Complications --- An Alleged Divorce Procured Months Ago.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 27 .- Lieut. Gov. H. A. W. Tabor no longer denies the fact that he was granted a decree of divorce from Mrs. Tabor in the district court of La Plata county last March. The complaint contained among other serious charges the one of adultery. is claimed that a summons was duly served upon Mrs. Tabor, but that she failed to answer or contest the prayer for divorce. She as well as her attorneys declare that the divorce was secured through fradulent means. Sho says that she never heard of the suit until after the docree had been granted. Then the governor had her informed of the action of the court, she insisted that she was not a divorced wife, and immediately instituted the action now pending in the Arapohae county court, wherein she prays for a judgment of maintenance and support. The governor did not attempt to deny that she was still his wife, but filed a demurror to the question at law in the complaint—namely, the suing for maintenance without an accompanying action for divorce. As the case now stands, it looks decidedly muddled. Mrs. Tabor says she will light the La Plata county decree on the ground of fraud. The governor on the complaint upon which the decree was granted, on the ground that he does not desire to have the character of his former wite blasted in the newspapers. Tabor will have to file his answer to the maintenance complaint within a few days, when doubtless he will declare his divorce. through fradulent means. She says that she

Ochiltree's Choice.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Congressman Blackburn has another supporter in his speakership canvass. Tom Ochiltree declares for him. Ochiltree has also defined his own political platform as the Independent party of Texas, He is for appropriations and against taxation. His support of Blackburn would be as an Independent, and not as a Democrat. He will also support the administration on the will also support the administration on the same terms. He says: "My people elected me as an Independent. I will go back to the Democratic party when it becomes a mational party, and is not led by foolish and timid lenders. The Republican party has given Confederate soldiers places all over the country, and yet Joe Blackburn was beaten for the speakership of the last congress because he was a Confederate. I am for the river and harbor bill, and far this reason: "I am against Sam Randall, who never voted for one. I am for all appropriations and the old one. I am for all appropriations and the old flag. I am against all taxation."

The Ninth Indiana.

Indianapolis, Dec. 27.—The Democratic committee of the Ninth congressional district met here yesterday to select a candidate for the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. Godvacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. Godlove S. Orth, which is to be filled at a special election to be held Jan. 9. There was a large representation of leading Democrats present, and Judge Harrison, of Boone county, presided. Hon. Thomas B. Ward, who was elected to congress in November, was unanimously chosen to make the race for the unexpired term, which is of only six weeks' duration.

A Centenarian Killed. 732 -Boston, Dec. 27 .- Mrs. Annie Sullivan, of Woburn, a woman certainly 100, and probably 104, years old, was run ever by a train at Winthester yesterday a garnoon. Both legs and one arm were cut off, and she died almost instantly. She was a native of Ireland, and retained her faculties remarkably.

An Actress Shot in the Head at a Rochester, N. Y., Theatre.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 27.—Quite a serious accident occurred to Miss Lillian Spencer last evening, while she and her company were presenting "Creole" in the Corinthian acadomy. At the end of the first act a revolver with a blank cartridge, in the hand of Arthur H. Forrest, accidentally discharged, in-flicting a severe flesh wound in the left side of Miss Spencer's face. In the play she appears as Cora, the creole mistress of George Du-hamel, a character taken by Forrest. In the first act she declares she will run away with another admirer, Victor Magliver, whom Duhamel threatens to shoot. He draws his revolver, which she seizes, and a struggle ensues. In the ordinary course of events she floes, and as she leaves the stage he shoots her and she falls, thus closing the scene. Last night in the struggle the revolver was accidentally discharged while in close proximity to her face. She fell to the floor screaming. The audience thought this was part of the play, but when Forrest loaned over her and exchanned: "On, my thou! what have I done?" and ordered the curtain to drop, all present imagined that another Frank Fravne tragedy had been enacted. Considerable commotion followed, but it was soon announced that, through Miss Spencer had not nounced that, through Miss Spencer had not been serfously injured, she would be unable to proceed in the play. She fainted, and medical sid was called, but it was found that she had only received a severe flesh wound. The report that another stage murder had been committed spread like wilding, and it was a long time before the crowd that gathered in front of the academy could be convinced that nothing so serious had happened. The woman was removed to her hotel in a carriage. It is expected that she will be able to complete her engagement here to-night.

MAHONE.

The Towering Ambition of the Little Giant of the Jeams River.

He Wants to Fill the Ample Seat Now Occupied by David

Washington, Dec. 27.-Gossiping Virginians talk a great deal about Mahone, and what he is going to do when the senate meets. Will Lo be content to elect Gorham secretary of the senate? Mahone's career in the past has not created for him any reputation for modesty or good faith. The Readjuster combination holds the balance of power. It is entirely in keeping with the policy of Mahone to throw Gorham overboard at the very last moment, and demand for himself the position of president of the senate, and the consequent succession to the presidency. The Republicans would be obliged to take Mahone or a Democrat. This embarrassing situation could be obviated in one way. If the Illinois legislative factions should compromise in the coming senatorial fight and re-elect David Davis, then senatorial fight and re-elect David Davis, then it is certain that he would command the vote in the senate for a re-election to the acting vice presidency. Mr. Davis has given great satisfaction to both sides. He has been uniformly impartial. It is the first time for many years that a senator has sat as a judge in the chair of the presiding efficer. To look forward to the reign of Mahone, and possible ascendancy of the Readjuster freebooker, is not a pleasant thought. The senate is made up of men who have peculiar codes for this government of their adairs. By a tacit understanding, no Democrat speaks to Mahone unless absolutely forced to do so. Not a single one of them would accept a social favor from him. The Republican senators do not treat him any botter. They do not speak to him unless they want something. No one ever gots up at his approach to shake lands with him. He generally comes trailing in from the cloak-room an hour after the senate has opened, and goes direct to his seat. He rarely if ever takes part in the proceedings. He is always the object of some whispered consultation.

Mahone's whole business appears to be not time. When Editor Goshein is not with it is cortain that he would command the Mahone's whole business appears to be plotting. When Editor Gorham is not with him, his sele privileged Virginia friend, Riddeberger, comes and goes, rehearsing some part he is to play after the 4th of March. They are a strange pair; Mahone, small and skeleton-figured, in his odd, flowing-robed cost, looks like a boy by the side of the tall and stalwart Riddleberger. Mahone's thin feet, bony hands and small head give him a look of fragility when he is standing up in the floor of the senate. It is a wonder to the average observer that those broomstick legged on the treaty of this pury body. If Mahone were to ent off his hair, his flowing mestache and beard, he would at once lose his power. No man with a hond as small as his could command respect, or even attention. It is number six head is so adorned and padded out with hair that you forget that there are plenty of apes in the memagerice that have larger heads. He crushes a soft white felt hat down over his tumbled gray hair; then, twisting out his long mustache, spreading his contained which swearing as he goes, he manager to impress his Virginia followers. Then he has money and putronage. His followers are all hungry, and would follow the devil for such pay as Mahone can give them. Mahone is a tyrant, and thoroughly unscrappulous in his Virginia/dealings. It is not to be supposed that he would manage affairs much better if he sneaceeds in gaining the prosidency of the senate; and just at the present he has more of a cell upon the position than any one. THE EX-REV. MILN.

His Explanation of the Reported Dif-ficulty in Rockford.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. Geo. C. Miln, who was in this city yesterday makes this statement in regard to the affair of last week reported from Rockford: "The statement in regard to the misunderstanding between the Rockford tavernkeeper and mysolf is full of misrepresentation. I did robuke his unwarrantable impertinence in insinuating that we wished to evade payment for dinner. The fact simply was that he demanded payment for a dinner which we did not eat. I rebuted his brutal insolence and immediately left his house, not because he ordered me to do se, however, but because he of the ungentlemanly conduct of the proprietor. I uttered but a few words, and it there was any intention of violence on his part I was not aware of it. The published statement is false, however, from end to end, and is evidently inspired by the tavernkeeper. We did not play "Hamilet" there, and it seems unkind to draw the prince of Denmark into any such controversy. As to the story about an unpaid bill, if any one has a claim against the Min-Burleigh company let him present it, and it will be promptly attended to. As a matter of fact, the company has been doing a fine business in all the towns and cities recently visited." manded payment for a dinner which we did

A Pasturage Monopoly. Washington, Dec. 27.—The Standard Oil company has been attempting to run a corner on pasturage in Indian territory. The Indians have been leasing pasturage privileges to horders at so much per annum. The Standard company has attempted to crowd these perfers ont by getting Indians to take up quarter sections of land and lease them to the company. In this way the company has come into possession of some 300,000 acros. But the approval by the secretary of the interior of the leases of the company with the Indians is requisite, and that approval the company has applied for. To-day Mr. Teller will refuse to grant it.

WONDERS OF THE WIRE Pictures by Telegraph -- 2,500 Words 4

Minute.

The Remarkable Things Promised by the Postal Telegraph Company.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.-"In less than thirty days," said Lester A. Bartlett to a reporter, "we shall have in operation between New York and Chicago the most perfect telegraph line the world ever saw,"

Mr. Bartlett has in charge the construction of the lines of the new postal telegraph. He came to this city yesterday, and gave an interesting account of the progress the company is making, and the way in which it proposes to transact business. It is now building a lline between New York and Chicago, and poles are up along the whole distance, with the exception of a few gaps, aggregating about fifty miles, which the contractors are rapidly filling. The wires are being strung as rapidly as they can be manufactured at the company's works, for one of the peculiarities of the Postal Telegraph company is that it makes its own wire-a steel core the size of a large knitting-needle cleetroplated with copper until it is nearly as thick as lead pencil. When the New York-Chicago line is finished, which will be some time next month, a second line will be started to run to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and a third to go to Boston. In the course of next year it is proposed to rough all the principal citics cast of the Mississippi, and the company's contract with the new French Cable company obliges it to have its wires to New Orleans in fifteen months from September, 1882. The cable company, which is organized 1832. The cable company, which is organized in France, with a capital of $11,000,000, is laying a cable across the Atlantic, by way of the coast of Fortugal and the Azores islands. From the Azores two cables will be laid; one to Havana and Aspinwall, where it will connect with the South American system of lines, and the other to a point on the shore of Long Island sound, where it will connect with the lines of the Portal Telegraph company. The poles for the land line to this point are already in place. place. It is promised that some marvelous results in place.

It is promised that some marvelous results will be shown when those lines are finished. Not only will the wires be "worked" through from New York to Chicago without repeating, a feat practically impossible with iron wires worked by the florse or any other system, but the rapidity of transmission will be greatly increased. The average time required for sending a message between the two cities tow is fifteen minutes, but with the copper wires it will be only a few seconds. "Why," said fif. Bartlett, with enthusiasm, "if I could get that far ahead of the stock exchange I'd bust his world!"

It is claimed that the application of the duplex and quadruplex patents to the Morss system is practicable only on short circuits; that, in fact, the later will work properly but little farther than the distance between New York and Philadolphia, while the Graysystem, which is owned by the Postal Telegraph company, multiples an iron wire nine times over which is owned by the Postal Telegraph company, multiplies an iron wire nine times over a 200-mile circuit, and a copper wire to any extent and over any distance. Prantically, however, it has only been made to work up to nine measures at once on a single copper wire. The base of the system is that difference in vibrations which makes musical tones. It is well known that if two strings on different violins are tured in exactly the same key a bow drawn across one will cause both to sound, and something of the sance kind is applied to the telegraph. A little instrument toned in a certain key is attached to one ond of the wire, and the message sent through it is received by another instrument, similarly toned, at the other end. These two instruments work in harmony, and are not intertuments.

to one ond of the wire, and the message sent through it is received by another instrument, similarly toned, at the other end. These two instruments work in harmony, and are not interfered with at all by the working of another, or, theoretically, of any number of other sets, over the same wire at the same time. There is semathing in the electrical vibrations that keeps their notes distinct.

Besidos this, however, the company owns a still more wonderful process. The legge patent sends as many words over a single wire in a minute as the most skillful Morse operator can send in an hour, delivers at the receiving station a face simile of the copy furnished, and does it all without the aid of a skilled operator. Anybody who can turn a camk can send a message in his own handwriting, with any private marks or other dovices he pleases, simply by first writing his message on a chemically-prepared slip of paper furnished by the company. Practical trials of this apparatus have shown a speed of 2,500 words a minute, but it can be colarged so as to do even better. A Morse operator who can send or receive from 2,000 to 2,500 words an hour can command the highest salary, and even then there is nothing to guarantee him against making a mellake. Pictures can be transmitted in this way, and an enterprising reporter can send not only the words but the music of a new opera by which the postofice—unics, indeed, an arrangement can be effected by which the postofices will be made receiving and delivering stations for the postofice—unicss, indeed, an arrangement can be effected by which the postofices will be made receiving and delivering stations for the postofice—unicss, indeed, an arrangement can be effected by which the postofices will be made receiving and delivering stations for the postofice—unicss, indeed, an arrangement can be effected by which the postofices will be made receiving and delivering stations for the postofice—unicss, indeed, an arrangement can be effected by which the postofice will be made receiving and deliver

Blilton. 1832 - 1882

-The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Hudson was celebrated on the 15th inst. and we doubt if a more pleasant affair ever occurred. On the 15th day of December 1832, at Chatham, New York, the twain were wedded and thirty-eight years ago, they came to Wisconsin and settled upon a farm a mile north of this village where they have since resided. Seven sons and one daughter were the fruit of the union, the daughter going to the "Better Land" ten years ago. For the first time in fourteen years the seven sons and the parents were seated at the family board on the above occasion, and what was more noticeable both parents and children, all of the latter near or past and children, an of the latter hear or past the meridian of life, were in good health. Among the sons present were the fol-lowing from abroad: Hon. Jno. W. Hud-son, of Madison, Prof. Jr. B. Hadson, of Bloomington, Ill. W. H. Hudson, of Stoutland, Mo. The follow-ing is a list of the presents, and their do-Hudson, of Stoutland, Mo. The following is a list of the presents and their donors: John W. Hudson, gold-headed cane; L. B. Hudson, gold-head silver set; Mrs. L. B. Hudson, "The Complete Home"; A. C. Hudson, rocking chair; W. H. Hudson, gent's gold pen; E. Hudson, gold spectacles; Bert, Rebe, Daniel and Hope Hudson, gold pin for grandma; Fred. Eddie and Flora Hudson, a large wine, coffee, vinegar, spice, meat, fish, bread, honey, cysters, beer, water, cake, citier, soup and grapes, and not rebel. Such an experiment was lately tried in rich, gold pen and holder. The event was a very enjoyable one for all concerned, and the golden-linked bride and groom have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of a town full of friends, who hope that they may be spaced to celebrate their diamond wedding under as happy circumstances. While the family were to-gether on Saturday following the golden event, the fact that the china wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hudson occurred on the 17th inst, became known. That occasion was inst, became known. That occasion was commemorated by the presentation of a china dinner set.

- Anderson took in seventeen loads of grain on the afternoon of the 12th inst., all of which came on the market unbought.

—Capitalists who are leading money at five per cent could make a much better investment in building tenements here for rent. The demand is greatly in excess of the supply.

—The hog market got a damaged optic last week and buyers cannot pay six cents per pound now.

—The basement under the tobacco ware house is not completed yet.

—The poles for the telephone line have been distributed, and it is expected that the wire will be strung this week. The office in this village will be in the post office building.
—Mrs. W. A. McHenry, of Dennison,

Iowa, spent Christmus here. -No items from this village last week, owing to the burglar chase.
—Students from out of town have gone

lage is dull on that account.

—Mrs. T. R. Williams, who has been dangerously ill for a number of weeks past, died on Wednesday afternoon surrounded by her family and many of her page relatives, who has left nothing up. near relatives, who had left nothing undone in the way of careful surroung and skilled medical attendance which would make her last moments perceful and tend to restore her to health. Mrs. Williams during her residence here had won the respect, esteem and friendship of all who formed her acquaintance, and her place in our social circle can not be filled. The percaved husband and motheriess sons have the hearffelt sympathy of the wholo community in their great loss. The funeral was held at the house on Tuesday afternoon Rev. F.

Dunn officiated, assisted Revs. Wardner and Bailey and President Wintford. The family started for Alfred Centre, New York, with the remains, on Saturday morning, where the burial will be made.

-The students of the college did a very credible thing for one of their number, last week. Chris, Johnson is a bright young fellow, whose parents are very poor, and have a large family to support. The young man is very eager to get an education, and works hard to earn money for that purpose, and is well liked by his classmates. They ascertained that he needed new clothes, but had no funds to buy them with; so the students "chipped in," took him to Janesville, and bought him a good suit of clothes, overcoat, boots, underclothing, &c., to the amount of thirty dollars, and sent him home to enjoy the holidays. We suggest that the faculty give the students Friday nights, hereafter, as recreation hours, in commemoration of their good work in Johnson's behalf.

—Among those from abroad who ate their Christmas turkey here were, Geo. W. Post, of the Chicago medical college, Miss A. P. Berdick, of the Menominee high school, George M. Henderson, of Stonghton, Mrs. W. A. Mellenry, of Donoison Iowa, C. E. Crandall and wife, of Morgan Park, Ill., J. H. Smart, of Coolidge, New Mexico, Mrs. Lobdell, of Durand, Ill., Will Borden, of St. Paul, Minn, Mrs. G. H. Van Campen, of Orleans, N. A. and others whose names have escaped -Among those from abroad who ate Y, and others whose names have escaped our memory.

—The Christmas calertainment at college chapel on Monday night was not as liberally patronized as it should have been. The cantata was rendered in an excellent manner, and all who participuted did themselves great credit, especially the children and the chorus. Some of the choruses were the finest that have been given here and the brief time in which the singers prepared the entertainment makes the success achieved all the more noteworthy. Miss Haven showed a telent for conducting that surprised all; she is entitled to high praise for the skillful manner in which the cantata was presented. We would suggest that it be rescritce. We would suggest that it be repeated at an early day. The accompanists were rendered in a finished manner by Miss Goodrich, and the soloists did themselves credit. The following is the

The cantata of "David, the Shapherd Boy," Bethlehemites' chorus of 50 singers. Choruses sustained by pupils of the graded school. Pianist, Mate E. Goodrich. Soloists—Abiguil, Mrs. E. M. —Notwithstanding the bad night, the Congregational church was completely filled on Monday night last, on the occasion of the Christmas tree exercises. The exercises were conducted by the superintendent of the Sabbath school, Loren Chenev, and were interesting throughout.

Maj. Dixon and the Prize. About the first thing we heard on the streets was that Major J. M. Dixon, ex-Postmaster at Eunis, Texas, had drawn the capital prize of $75,000 in The Louis iana State Lottery, we sought the Major and found him with a remarkably flushed face, and a smile as though he had just been married or was going to in a few munites, covered every part of his face. We congratulated him $75,000 worth, but he said that was too steep and at once re-duced it to $15,000; upon being pressed for the particulars, he said his wife was the real owner of the ticket that drew that prize—Runis, Texas, Commercial Re-corder, Nov. 23d.

A Good Railway Change.

The State Journal in speaking of the Chicago train over the St. Paul road says: "A matter of news that will interest and at the same time please the traveling public is that, the 9:30 a.m. train east on the Chicago, Mulwaukee & St. Paul railway for Davis Junction, via Milton, Janesville, Beloit and Rockford, connecting at Milton with the train for Milwan. kee and intermediate points-will bereafter leave Madison on time regardless of the arrival of the train from the north. The train reaches Milton at 10:10 a.m.; Janesville, 10:40 a.m.; Beloit, 11:30 a.m.; Rockford, 12:20 p. m.; Dayis Junction at 12:50 p. m., connecting there for both east and west, reaching Chicago at 4 p. m. The route by way of Davis Junction is an exceedingly pleasant one, running through the fertile Rock river country. All connections are close, and the traveler tion, at exactly the same time as he would did he go via Milwaukee, the old route. Heretofore this train has waited regularly for the Portage passenger, and as it was frequently delayed, considerable annoyance was caused passengers from Madison for the east by the Davis Junction train. This waiting has now been done away with and the train will hereaf-

A TERRIBLE END.

Henry Robinson Found Dead in His Room, His Face Haif Devoured by Rats-A Sickening Spectacle.

Henry Robinson, a man forty years of age, of good reputation and family, was missed during last week, but not until last Sunday were suspicbut not until last Sunday were suspicions sufficiently aroused to warrant breaking into his room in the Masonic block.
A terrible sight was revealed. The man lay upon the fleor, where he had fallen dead, in a fit, and rats had eaten his face in an awful manner; the itesh hung in shreds and chunks, from the bones of the head, making the features entirely unrecognizable. A week ago last Sunday, people occupying adjoining rooms heard a dull, heavy fall, but gave the sound no more than passing attention. Tobinson, as nearly as can be judged, died suddenly of an epileptic fit, and laid in his room for a whole week, rats meanwhile hold-

A Labrador tribe, it is said, made the barrels stolen from a wrecked whale-ship serve as chimney-tops, the West Indians utilized Timothy Dexter's warming pans for sugar lailes. and the Shans find no worse use for English beer-bottles than to stick them up as housebeer-bottles than to stick them up as house-hold gods to keep evil spirits away! But the dreilest instance of unthought-of capability is reported in The London Truth:

"What becomes of old pianos? That well-known and most adventurous Frenchman, De Tomand, while in Patagonia, wished to gain the good will of an old Patagonian chief. He accordingly gave the savage a worn out grand piano, which he had bought for eighty francs.

"A few days after making this generous present, De Tomant went one morning to pay an early visit to the Patagonian. He found him sleeping peacefully with his wife buside the plano, from which he had carefully removed sounding beard, strings, etc., and which, thus transformed, constituted a not unconfortable bedstead.

"This may assount for the final resting place of old "grands," but what is the end of wornout cottage planot?"

Bidn't Die Affer All. Youth's Companion.

Dr. Dash was sent for once in haste to a wealthy woman in New York, supposed to be dying, though no physician could discover her ailmeat.

She had not tasted food for days. Her shricks were incessant, her features livid and exhausted by months of nursing, stood waitexhausted by months of intraing, stood waiting to see her depart. The dester made a close examination of the case. She recognized hind and her eyes gathered intelligence.

"I'm dying, deathe," the meaned.

"Nothing of the kind," shortly.

"What ails ino)" she said, after a louder shrield.

He looked her steadily in the eye. "A has-band who has too much manay," he answered briefly. Then, turning to the attendants, he said, "Take her up, dress her, and bring her some brefsteak and brend and butter."

Straightforward Business. A correspondent of The Boston Transcript not care to see Mrs. Langtry disguised as an actress, but who would like to see the famous actress, but who would like to see the famous beauty of London society, and as her object and that of her manager are the same-ste make money—that she hold a reception in some hall, theatre, or hole, under her theatreal management, at first-class theatreal prices, and that she wear no paint nor powder, and simply such an evening dress as she wore in the drawing froms of London. That would be doing business in a straightforward manner, without disguises.
